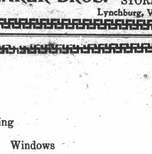
Two Hundred Years Old and Still Good



IN the recently opened American Wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, hundreds of passersby stop every day to admire the original china closet from which the design illustrated here was taken. It is over 200 years old.

That old cabinet is faithfully reproduced in Curtis Woodwork for your home today. While especially adapted to the Colonial house, it will also look well in the home of English type, and it has also been tastefully used in Spanish houses.

This china closet is an example of the many beautiful designs which Curtis Woodwork offers home-builders, not only in cabinet work but also in stairs, trim, doors, windows, frames.

Design alone, however, is not all that Curtis Woodwork offers you. It has quality through and through in every detail of materials and construction. Yet Curtis Woodwork is no higher in price, even if it does give you better designs, material and workmanship, than ordinary millwork. In fact, it often costs considerably less when all expenses items are taken into consideration.

CURTIS — Specified for better homes—you may insist that Curtis Woodwork be used—the Curtis guarantee—a quality product

Come in and let us show you some Curtis designs and help you fit them into your building plans. Ask for the free booklet, "Curtis Woodwork," helpful and interesting to builders.

Richmond.—A broadside against the operation of the Volstead act in the United States, hurled by Albert O. Boschen in the House of Delegates, failed of appreciable effect.

Richmond.—Adjutant-General W. W. Sale will retain his position during the coming administration, Harrison G. Flood Byrd, the Governor-elect made known in a statement received here from Winchester.

Washington.—Expenditure of $20,000 for the erection near Hagus, Virginia, of a monument to Richard Henry Lee, delegate to the Continental Congress, was proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Bland, of Newport News.

Richmond.—Election of judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals by the qualified voters of the State, instead of by the General Assembly, was proposed in a constitutional amendment presented in the House of Delegates by R. Lindsay Gordon, of Louisa.

Lexington.—The rubber raincoat worn by Stonewall Jackson when he was wounded at Chancellorsville, together with a number of other personal belongings of the great Confederate leader, will be presented to the museum of the Virginia Military Institute Thursday.

Lynchburg.—Mrs. Bettie M. Sprouse, administratrix of Lewis Sprouse, has instituted suit in the Circuit Court of Amherst county against F. W. Woody and N. M. Hudson for $10,000 for the death of her husband. Mr. Sprouse was injured by an automobile and died May 2 last at the Lynchburg Hospital.

Luray.—The Norfolk and Western Railway is trying to induce the location of industrial plants along its system throughout this section. Agricultural agents of the road are working in conjunction with the citizens of the towns looking to the location of tomato canneries and other industries.

Richmond.—Regardless of its reception in the House of Delegates, the Page bill abolishing special prohibition fees will never pass the Senate. This was the opinion expressed by Senator George W. Layman, of Craig, author of the present prohibition law and acknowledged spokesman of the Anti-Saloon League in the Senate.

Richmond.—An impassioned plea for his program calling for appropriations of $2,000 000 for State-supported institutions—particularly the colleges—was made by Governor Trinkle in presenting his budget to the joint meeting of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee.

Richmond. — Governor Harry F. Byrd and his family will attend services at St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church, according to reports from Winchester, where attention was directed to the close friendship of Mr. Byrd and Rev. William D. Smith, D. D., rector of St. Mark's, who was, for many years, rector of Christ Church, of Winchester.

Covington.—Marked by a fine display of patriotism, a flag was presented to the Dry Run School and raised with ceremony recently, when the improved Order of Red Men and Loyal Order of Moose generously donated the colors and provided for the elaborate program which was observed on that occasion.

Farmville.—That the beauty and utility of the buildings of the State Teachers' College at Farmville, have received wide recognition was demonstrated by a letter just received by Dr. I. L. Jarman from Assist. Egypt. This letter contained a request for pictures, floor plans, etc., of the dormitories which are to be used in the erection of a woman's building in a school there.

Newport News.—Though co-operative farm marketing and purchasing is still regarded as being in the stage of its infancy in this, as in other sections of Virginia, according to County Agent H. S. Lippincott, of Warwick, York and Elizabeth City counties, there has been a remarkable proof of the efficacy of such practice in his counties during the past five years.

Staunton.—Charging that "great efforts have been made to run the State Dairy and Food Division for political purposes;" that "money has been wasted and improperly expended;" that expenditure are "at least, from $10,000 to $15,000 a year more than necessary," the Virginia Dairy Products Association, adopted a resolution calling for the abolishment of the office of State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Richmond.—Hope for success of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial coin harvest campaign was expressed by General W. B. Freeman, command er-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, in his message to the people of the South.

Richmond. — Governor-elect Harry Flood Byrd and members of both branches of the General Assembly will be guests of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce at a buffet luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce Club Rooms at 4 o'clock the evening of February 4.

MINE OWNERS REJECT PEACE

Lynett Proposal, Lauded by Spokesman, Refused by Headquarters, Lewis Accepting.

BREACH OF FAITH CHARGED

But Inglis Denies Previous Agreement—Hopes of New Conference Collapse — Cannot Repudiate Inglis, Author Says.

Scranton, Pa.—After John R. Lewis, president of the Miners' Union, had accepted the anthracite peace proposal advanced by E. J. Lynett, publisher of the Scranton Times, as a basis for renewing negotiations, the mine operators announced that they had not agreed to the plan, as W. W. Inglis, their spokesman, was believed to have previously indicated, and that they could see nothing new in it.

Happy over the news that the strike of 158,000 miners, now nearing the end of its fifth month, had a new chance for settlement, the people of the anthracite field were stunned and confused by the action of the operators, which, temporarily at least, has blocked the present effort for an adjustment.

The latest statement by the operators, which came out of Philadelphia, made the situation more puzzling because of the fact that a communication sent to Mr. Lynett by Mr. Inglis in behalf of the operators was interpreted as an acceptance of the publisher's proposal.

This communication was presented by the publicity department of the operators, given the impression that it had been concurred in by R. D. Warriner and other leading coal operators.

If the operators have repudiated the plan in the face of the acceptance of it by Mr. Inglis earlier in the week, it is nothing more than breaking faith with the public," Mr. Lynett said.

Mr. Lynett's newspaper carried the headlines of the miners' accepting the Times proposal and in the same edition printed the operators' latest statement, the Lewis statement and the Inglis letter. All of these left the public bewildered and the region is waiting some definite announcement.

In his letter to Mr. Lynett, accepting the plan for the miners, Mr. Lewis said the suggestion was considered "constructive in nature and worthy of consideration by both sides in conference" and declared the union representatives were willing "to re-enter joint negotiations at the earliest possible moment if the operators' representatives occupy the same view point."

Asserting that the proposal was unacceptable, to include an alternative for arbitration, Mr. Lewis said:

"The Mine Workers believe that one of the fundamental evils of the anthracite industry is the utter destruction of confidence and good-will between the anthracite operators and their employees.

"We have in mind certain suggestions to make to the operators in conference which we believe will be largely instrumental in establishing better relationship and a greater degree of co-operation and efficiency throughout the region.

The coal region was thrilled by the acceptance by President Lewis of the Lynett plan and the excitement increased when Alvan Markle, chairman of the Operators and Miners' Conference, announced from Hazleton that he stood ready and only too glad to issue a call for a joint conference at the call of either the operators or the miners, or both.

Celebrations got under way in many of the mining towns and the business districts took on much activity as the news spread that a settlement was near. Then suddenly came the operators' repudiation.

E. J. Lynett, editor of the Scranton Times, whose anthracite peace plan was rejected by the operators, characterized statements contained in the telegram received by him from Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the Operators' Negotiating Committee, as a "weak and puerile repudiation of the expressed and implied approval of the Times plan for settling the strike."

WHAT ELECTION COST N. Y.

Recent Mayoralty Contest Ate Up Nearly Two Millions.

New York.—It cost New York city $1,895,299.50 to elect a Tammany administration. This was the cost of maintaining the Board of Elections holding the primary which preceded the general election, enrolling and registering voters and, finally, the election in November. The figures were disclosed in a report made to Secretary of State Knapp by S. H. Cohen, clerk in Board of Elections.

Lesson for February 14

JESUS, THE GOOD SHEPHERD

LESSON TEXT—John 10:1-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the good shepherd, the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."—John 10:11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Good Shepherd and His Sheep.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Good Shepherd.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What the Good Shepherd Does for His Sheep.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Many Sheep, but One Shepherd.

The relationship of the Messiah to His own is set forth in the Old Testament under the figure of the shepherd and his sheep. (Ps. 23, Is. 34).

I. The Good Shepherd (vv. 1-18).

1. He Is the True Shepherd (vv. 1-6).

He came by the divinely appointed way. The power exercised by the Pharisees in casting out this man was not obtained by lawful means. It was stolen by them and exercised in the bold spirit of robbers. John the Baptist, and others of the prophets, had performed the function of the porter and opened the door to the Shepherd (v. 23). Despite the deceit, audacity, and sin and robbery of these Pharisees, those who were Christ's sheep were declared to be forming a new flock and following Him as the true Shepherd (v. 4). The reason the man suffering excommunication for Jesus' sake was that he recognized Him as the true Shepherd and the Pharisees as strangers.

2. He Is the Door of the Sheep (vv. 7-10).

The way to fellowship to God is through Christ. He is the only door (Acts 4:12). There is absolutely no way to get into the fold of the redeemed but by Him. All who attempt it are thieves and robbers (v. 8). Those who become members of the flock through Him enjoy marvelous gifts (vv. 9, 10).

(1) Salvation—"Shall be saved." Not only saved now but saved eternally (vv. 27, 28).

(2) Liberty—"Shall go in and out" (v. 9).

Only those who accept salvation in Christ know what freedom is.

(3) Contentment—"Shall go in and out and find pasture" (v. 9).

The one who really enters the fold of Christ, the door, receives that which is all-satisfying to the soul.

3. He Is the Good Shepherd (vv. 11-18).

He is so devoted to His sheep that He willingly lays down His life for them. The hireling abandons his sheep in time of danger. The Good Shepherd has perfect knowledge of His sheep and they know Him (vv. 14, 15). He enjoys such personal intimacy with His sheep that He knows them by name and goes before them to lead the way and defend them from every danger. This He will do even unto death. On Calvary this was historically fulfilled. It was Christ's love for such sheep as this poor blind man that caused Him to give up His life in order to find for them the abundant life (v. 10). This sympathy is world-wide—"other sheep I have which are not of this fold." This suggests that the Gentiles have a place in His fold All who believe in Christ form one flock. In order to save His sheep He voluntarily laid down His life (vv. 17, 18).

II. The Sheep (vv. 19-30).

1. Unbelievers Are Not His Sheep (vv. 19-26).

Christ's assertion that He was the good shepherd caused a division among the people. Some accused Him of being mad, others that He had a devil. To their request that He would tell them plainly if He were the Christ, He referred them to the testimony of His works, declaring that the secret of their inability to recognize Him was their unbelief.

2. They Recognize His Voice (v. 4)

There are many voices in the world the voice of the hireling, the voice of the thief and the voice of the stranger but none of these will the sheep hear. The voice of the true Shepherd is recognized by His sheep even amidst the babel of voices in the world today.

3. His Sheep Follow Him (vv. 3, 27).

This is the proof that they are His The one who does not hear, heed, and obey the Lord's voice is clearly not His sheep. His sheep have unquestioned faith in His ability to lead them.

4. His Sheep Are Eternally Secure (vv. 27, 28).

The sheep are entirely dependent upon the Shepherd. It is the Shepherd's business to look after and care for the sheep. This He does for He knows them by name and is acquainted with their weaknesses and trials.

The Real Blessing

The real blessing, mercy, satisfaction, is not in the having or the lack of merely outward things, but in the consciousness that the true source of life and happiness is deeper than all these.—John W. Chadwick.

Eyes to See

As a face is made beautiful by the soul's shining through it, so the world is beautiful by the shining through it of a loving God. Happy the man who has eyes to see the shining.

EVERGREEN

Mr. Reed Evans returned home Thursday from Florida, where he has been spending a part of the winter.

Mrs. T. T. Evans had as her guest last week, Mrs. C. H. Thompson, of Amherst.

Misses Lonelle Hamilton and Gladys Jennings entertained at a delightful Rook party Saturday night in honor of Miss Elsie Marks.

Mr. Hector Cawthorn, of Roanoke, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. J. D. Cawthorn.

Miss Elsie Marks was the week end guest of Misses Lonelle Hamilton and Gladys Jennings.

Mr. Floyd Reynolds of Long Island was the guest of Miss Burnette for the week end.

Mrs. T. T. Evans spent Saturday in Lynchburg.

Miss Hallie Burnette is on the sick list this week.

ROCKS NEWS

The ground hog sure had a nice day to see his shadow! Didn't he?

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Paulett, and son, Andrew, have moved back to Richmond.

Mr. Alfred Baldwin has been suffering with his jaw for some time.

Mrs. E. S. Roach has returned home from Roanoke, where she had been at the bedside of Mrs. R. H. Lowe.

Robert Almond is out again after a long spell with his throat and nerves.

Miss Lelia Harvey left Sunday for Lynchburg. She has been with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Almond for about two months.

Mrs. J. D. Hamilton has the "pink-eye."

Mr. Wylie Dickerson, of Lynchburg, has been at the parents home. Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Dickerson for a few days suffering with his tonsils.

The school teachers who walk to school sure have bad roads to go over these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roach and son, of Roanoke, were here on a visit some time ago.

Few folks have as good mail carriers as the folks on "Evergreen Route 2" have—He's a fine one.

STAPLETON

We are glad to state that Mr. H. O. Martin's children are better.

Mr. M. J. Taylor has been ill but is reported some better now.

Mr. John D. Taylor, of Richmond, has been to see his mother, Mrs. M. G. Taylor.

Miss Louise Drinkard spent week end at Mr. H. R. Moore's, at Epckham.

Mrs. O. K. Stanley and son, expect to leave now soon for Washington, D. C., where they will make their future home. We will miss them very much.

A CARD

Your Vera correspondent was in error when it was stated that the school wagon did not get to Vera until it was due at the school house and that children were "kept in" on this account. No child who rides on my wagon has been "kept in" for being late and my wagon is rarely ever late in getting to school house. I hope you will correct the error for me, as the statement made in your issue of Jan. 14th was misleading.

MRS. J. W. CARTER.

FOREST VIEW

Hurrah for ground hog weather! Snowing again this morning, and the roads are bad enough at best.

The sick in and around our community are getting better.

Some of our farmers have burned their plant beds preparing for another crop of the weed, and some are working on the present crop preparing for market.

Mrs. Annie Odor has returned from Lynchburg, after spending several days there with friends.

Miss Margaret Caldwell who teaches Falling River school, spent last week end with Miss Mary D. Marshall.

Miss Bernice Ford spent last Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Walter Jordan and attended services at Central Church. The pastor Rev. Burnette preached a fine sermon.

Misses Annie Nash and Louise Jones visited Miss Erna Woolridge last Sunday.

Mr. W. L. Ford spent last week with his family at Appomattox.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Cheatham entertained a number of the young people recently. They had good music and dancing. All reported a good time.

Farmers' Short Course Feb. 26

Don't fail to make your plans to attend the short course for farmers, their wives and club members at the high school auditorium, Fri., Feb. 26, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. This is not to be a picnic affair and you are requested not to make it so, but to just bring a pocket lunch.

Godkins will discuss "Testing Seed Corn for Germination and Diseases," and will show the results of the tests he has made in the county. Mr. Deitrick, Garden Specialist, will lead the discussion on "Growing Tomatoes Commercially," and Mr. Dean will lead the "Poultry" discussion.

MEMORIAL

In sad, but loving remembrance of our dear son, Buford G. Coleman, who was taken from us one year ago today, Jan. 30th. 1925.

We had a little treasure once,
He was our joy and pride,
We loved him, oh! perhaps too well.
For soon he slept and died,
All is dark within our dwelling,
For the one we love so dear,
Has forever passed away.

Patrolmen Save a Woman After Leap Into River

New York.—Her hands clasped as if in prayer, a gray-haired woman, about fifty-five years old, plunged from the bridge at the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad ferry slip at Twenty-third street into the Hudson river.

A throng in the waiting room saw the woman disappear in the icy water. An unidentified young man sprang to the rescue. As the crowd watched, he dived and brought the woman to the surface.

Patrolmen Young and Morrison lowered a ladder into the slip, but found it was three feet too short. As the watchers cheered, Morrison held Young by the ankles and swung him down until his hands grasped those of the rescuer.

Assisted by several men, Morrison and Young hauled the two ashore. The rescuer shivered a few seconds, shrugged his shoulders and disappeared before police could learn his name. The woman, identified as Mary Regan, fifty-five, unemployed and homeless, was taken to Bellevue hospital to be treated for submersion.
